ROUNDUP

Foreword

As this school year passes from us, we shall have many friends pass from us also. Although they may be gone, their memory still lingers with us. The 1965-66 Roundup has been published to retain this memory of our friends, activities, and faculty of our high school year.

This year has been a victory for some, while yet, it was a defeat for others. Becoming an A class school raised our standards, as well as our competition. As a united student body we met this challenge and while there remained improvement we achieved many honors through this year.

The seniors will leave WHS, but will be replaced with new seniors. Even though we leave, we will still remember our years of education, but also remember our role as an individual who still learns from others around us.

The Roundup staff has worked hard, with extra hours on their own, but these hours are indeed small when we remember we are recording history for WHS. The staff hopes our students enjoy the Roundup as much as we enjoyed gathering the information for its contents.

God Bless You All

Dedication

"I'll speak in a monstrous little voice."

SHAKESPEARE

We, the Annual Staff, the Faculty, and the Students of Willcox High School, are proud to dedicate this issue of the Roundup to Mr. Alva Williams, custodian of Willcox High School.

Throughout the years, Mr. Williams has gone about the WHS campus cleaning the rooms, picking up the grounds, and making repairs when necessary, making our school as comfortable and attractive to the outsider's eyes as it is to our own.

We thank you, Mr. Williams, for though you are seldom seen, your presence is felt by the students and we appreciate your part in making our school what it is today. It is to you we dedicate our annual.

My lord, wise men ne'er sit and wail their woes,
But presently prevent the ways to wail.

Superintendent's Message

May I take this opportunity to congratulate the seniors upon their approaching graduation and the students and faculty for providing the very fine school year that we are just completing.

It is gratifying to see the growth intellectually and physically, that occurs in our students during the school year. My hope is that this growth will continue throughout your life span and that we have given you the desire and ability to use this growth toward a better community for all of our citizens.

Principal's Message

In the future this yearbook should bring back happy memories of the past year to the faculty and students of Willcox High School. This publication is one which we should be proud and happy to have as a record of our accomplishments during the 1964-65 school year.

With this in mind, I congratulate the Annual staff on this fine publication.

Mr. Eikenberry

Mr. Eikenberry gave years of service to WHS before his retirement in 1965. In 1937, he came to Willcox and taught science, Spanish and directed the orchestra. He served as principal - superintendant for 19 years and then became the Spanish teacher we all remember.

We not only learned about the Spanish language, but also the people and the customs of the Spanish-speaking countries from the stories and pictures of his extensive travels.

We're sorry to see him go, but we wish him the best through his retirement years.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Whereas, we, the Seniors of Willcox High School, realizing that our remaining days in this institution of knowledge are few, and having gained the pre-eminence customary to noble and mighty Seniors, being of sane mind and sound body, and feeling that the time is at hand for making a satisfactory disposal of our worldly possessions and privileges, do ordain and publish this, our Last Will and Testament. With all due consideration and fore thought, we dispose of said worldly possessions and privileges as follows:

We, The Senior Class of 1966, will to the Faculty our memories and hope they have had as much fun from them as we have had.

We, The Senior Class of 1966, will to the Juniors our superior leadership and way of running the school properly.

Prophecy

Opening the door, I was greeted by a familiar looking character who was obviously the owner. He had a habit which I used to identify him. His laugh! After I set up an appointment for two hours later that afternoon, I cautiously asked, "Aren't you Richard Bedolla?"

"Yes," he boasted. "Sole owner of Richard's Beauty Shops; located in every important city in the states." Then came that familiar laugh again.

Still he did not recognize me, so I thanked him for the appointment and said I would be back later.

Leaving the shop, I headed for the newspaper stand, but my thoughts were interrupted by another familiar-looking person calling out. "Help the Air Force Relief Fund. Buy a few pencils to help the underprivileged."

Observing closer, I recognized the owner of the voice. Bob Anderson, selling pencils? I told him I'd take 5 pencils. He said, "2.50 please."

I laughed to myself, "Bob hasn't changed a whole lot, at least he's doing real good."

Later in a quiet restaurant I observed the headlines on the daily paper. STRIKE IN CENTRAL PARK. Scanning the article, more familiar names appeared. It seemed that millionaire Ken Dunagan wanted to buy Central Park and build a ranch. This way he'd be close to the city, but still have his wide open spaces. The New York City Mayor, Tina Frazier, refused, so Russell Mahoney, foreman, and the cowboys went on strike. The paper listed the names of the strikers, who were also well-known to me. Paul Blanke, Duane Cunningham, Ross Estavillo, Joe Gonzales, Richard Lavergne, Mike Martinez, Robert Perez, Richard Ramirez, George Sanchez, Larry Horton, Curly Vasquez, Jerry Newsome, and Pat Gutierrez. I wondered if they were on strike or having one big party. At the bottom of the article, they had a remark concerning the capture of a rustler, Mike Hubbard. He turned to rustling, because it was much more profitable than ranching. His new brand was -0.

Another article caught my attention. Bobby Reno, agent for Philharmonic Orchestra, had just hired Danny McWilliams as lead baritone player for the orchestra. Danny always did like that long-haired stuff.

In the church section, a small paragraph read: Three missionaries in the Congo who were reported missing have been found. The missing persons, Gary Mortenson, Raffie Berberian, and Danny Higgins were found quietly resting under a large tree. MAY THEIR SOULS REST IN PEACE.

Another article contained information about the Hell's Angels. They had had a motorcycle race to determine the best driver among the "females." Collette Dickerson and Connie Moreland tied for 1st place and both wanted the award. Sooooo to determine the winner they are having a brawl between them for the conclusion. They always did like to make things interesting.

In the Women's Section they had put in a small notice: To whom it may concern. On channel WXYZ the great debaters Kert Moore and Mike Michael are debating "The Common Miseries of being World Famous Playboys." I wondered, "Why would this interest women?"

Terry Bryant has the leading role for the Shakespearian play Romeo and Juliet. They gave him a cincher and a wig with a little make-up and he's the best actress on Broadway.

Another interesting article involved Maloo O'Conner Grant Hudson Brenner Martin Sinatra Hope Skelton Lewis Damone Benny who just divorced her 10th husband. By now her alimony is about $100,000 a month. Pretty good for a beginner.

At the top of the following page, they had a full length picture of a shapely young lady in a bathing suit wearing a ribbon with Miss America inscribed on it.

Beneath the picture the article remarked that Miss Connie Vesley, Miss America, was visiting New York in her tour of the United States. I guess once Connie got in the spots she couldn't shake it.

In the sports section Bobby Nelson and Eddie Bryce have just won the coveted Davis Cup in a thrilling game of Doubles. They won with a set score of 22-20 and 44-40.

Robert Holland, who is now the World's Champion Cowboy, retired. It seemed he was tired of all that publicity.

Turning the page, a picture of five tall basketball players caught my attention. Below the picture were the words: The Harlem Clowns have been replaced by top five comedians, all of whom played together in high school. Mike Donnelly, Jackie Rottman, Steve Zagst, Ralph Bedolla, and John Blain have captured the hearts of millions in their unique way of playing basketball.

Charles Mike is now star half back for the Green Bay Packers. They went to the finals with the Baltimore Colts this year. They gave them a real hard battle.

Turning to the want ads section, I found some very interesting material of past acquaintances.

Wanted-Two peanut venders desire to purchase 3,000,001 peanuts. Two nuts to a shell only. Contact Dan Michael and Penny Mayfield, two nuts at the Bronx Zoo.

Wanted-Den Mothers. Due to the shortage of Den Mothers, Gorden Anthony is now "Den Mother" of New York, he needs HELP badly.

Wanted-New dog catcher for Stephen Talley and his Poodle Parlor. Tommy White, present dog catcher, just doesn't have the knack for it.

Wanted-Work for very experienced cook with references from Waldorf Historia, Copa Club, and Hilton. Contact Wanda Sparks, Box 1004.

For Sale-Ku Klux Klan members only - Electric burning crosses for your meeting. They burn and burn and burn; just plug them in. Call Lou Groves, vender and manufacturer, 1313 East Harlem, Avenue, that is.

For Sale-Canaries who can sing bass, tenor, or soprano, taught by David Anderson. "Buy three for harmony." See Dave's Bird Shop on 5th Avenue.

For Sale-Acres and acres of new mustangs. All sizes, shapes, and colors. With each purchase a new rope free. See that ol' horse trader me-Debby Riggs-at Central Park Riots.

Glancing at my watch, I realized I'd have to hurry to make my appointment on time. I dashed out and hailed a taxi. The driver, Mary Alice Simpson, informed me that she and Tommy Allaire collaborated and are running a Red Taxi Service. They have red cars to replace the yellow ones.

Back at the Beauty shop, I sat down, when a distinctive looking character walked in and sat next to me.

"Hello Marilyn," I smiled. "How are you and your work?"

"Well, being a fashion model and parttime beauty counselor is really keeping me busy." she replied.

Relating what I had learned about our former schoolmates, I asked her if she knew about some of the others.

"Well," she began, Tony Benevidas went to Saudi Arabia and has become a big wheel. He thinks he is a sheik, with camels, tents, a private harem and the whole works.

"Zena Bolin is now caring for several hundred kids. You know, the goat type. She has a big farm, and specializes in breeding goats to get those rare types."

"Mitch Crow is sole owner of a nightclub. He calls it Crow's Nest. He hired Dennis Ward to play his clarinet for part-time. The other half of the program involves Danny Riggs on his guitar."

"Another pair of our former classmates have a discotheque known as the Zan Bizi A go-go. Jim Cook and Carolyn Fraker are the proprietors. They specialize in short legged go-go girls. Candy Coleman, Bo Logan, Lynn Duncan, Beverlee Fenton, Marsha Kuhn, and Tessie Saponara are the main features." Marilyn laughed. "A while back the whole group was taken to court for causing riots among the male customers and fights from the female customers. They won on the basis of a sign above the door. ENTER AT YOUR OWN RISK. Jill Masonheimer was their lawyer. She really did hand over forceful persuasion to the judge and jury.

About that time Richard turned on the TV for the daily kiddie show presented by Gary Bowen with his accompanist, Geri Pratt. They invite four-and five-year olds to the station and have a regular nursery happy time. A beer company sponsors their show. Johnny Hoover, president of the company, advertised his "freshly brewed with mountain dew" drink.

Marilyn laughed, "From what I hear, that company's going broke: Johnny keeps drinking up the profits.

Between shows a bulletin came on about Mike Meyer winning the presidency on Meyer Island. Mike was the only person there, but he believed very strongly in democracy.

Then Roy Gentner came on with a familiar looking blond. "Become a blond," he sighed, "They have more fun."

All at once the front door burst open and John Lane dressed in black tights, sunglasses, no shoes, and a beard, came running in breathlessly. "Hide me, the man from UNCLE is after me."

"Why the danger?" Marilyn asked.

"I am the man from AUNTIE" he replied running out the back door.

UNCLE United Neurotics Chasing Legal Educators.

AUNTIE Association of United Neurotic Thinkers in Interest of Education.

Next on TV came two cute little girls singing "Roly Poly you'll never be, eating our health food with low-calorie." Evie Herron and Rosemary Lawson, owners of H and L Health Centers, were the sponsors of the Jim Brown Show. Jim, who replaced Ben Casey, was now the heart throb of every female in New York. He has a

Dr. Jeckel and Mr. Hyde personality to please everyone who watches.

Marilyn interrupted the commercial and said, "Janet Dabbs joined the Peace Corps and went to Red China. She's putting forth an effort to convert the Commies. They are doing the same. From what I hear, it's quite a battle of words, mainly because of a language barrier."

"Glynda Nolan now has a Karate school. She has a new technique. Instead of using their hands they just stomp the boards with their feet."

Another commercial came on. This time Jean Gilmore and Donna Warden were advertising Red, White, and Blue Hondas, especially for Hell's Angels. Their motto, "You Meet THE Nicest People on a Honda."

About this time Louise Thomason, secretary to Marilyn, piped up and said, "Let's turn the channel and watch Sally Speelman's show."

"What's her show?" I questioned.

"She is a famous wrestler who challenges any male in the nation. So far she has a record of five wins and no losses." Louise replied.

"Susan Poteet finally got to marry Harry." Marilyn said. Then she lowered her voice to a whisper. "The reason for the delay was she had to dispose of the bodies of the former millionnaire husbands. Another one who is also married is Mary Jo Wootan. She is the world's youngest Grandmother. Her adopted cat had babies. Marie Spencer is still married and she hasn't changed much. Especially her driving.

"Gwen Johnson went to Hawaii and became life guard on Wakiki Beach." I told them. "Boy, I bet she has a rough time dragging in those drowned surfers!"

"Robert Sheppard is enjoying his life in the Navy, especially since Connie Jones joined and became a Wave.

Marilyn remarked, "The other day I had a chance to model western clothes on Joyce Wingate's quarter horse ranch. When I got on the plane, there was a cute red headed stewardess who served us. Later I found out it was Dixie Smith, former blond. Dixie said she had more fun as a redhead than a blond.

"Candy Jones joined the Ku Klux Klan, not because of their purpose, but she likes the flavor she gets roasting her hot dogs at the cross burnings."

"What ever happened to Chick Panchalk?" I asked them.

"Well," Marilyn stated, "Last I heard, he was tired of the hustle and bustle of this city life, so he left and went to the South Pacific. I am not exactly sure of his present occupation, but I believe he's gathering shells on the beaches."

Class of "66"

History

As our plane took off in the 1st journey of our educational course, we started out with a large number of passengers. They were: Joanna Hart, Connie Jones, Jim Cook, Terry Bryant, Glynda Nolan, Debbie Riggs, Robert Holland, Dixie Smith, Jim Brown, Jack Rottman, David Anderson, Danny Higgins, Lou Groves, Bobby Nelson, Dennis Ward, Ken Dunagan, Paul Blanke, Curly Vasquez, Joe Gonzales, Rosemary Lawson, John Panchalk, Janet Dabbs, Jill Masenheimer, Candy Coleman, Evie Herron, Louise Thomason, Richard Bedolla, Marsha Kuhn, Mary Jo Wootan, Penny Mayfield, Tessie Saponara, Eddie Bryce, Danny Riggs, Mike Martinez, Ralph Bedolla, George Sanchez and Tony Benevidas.

When we took off on our 2nd journey we had picked up Sally Speelman, Bob Anderson, Jean Gilmore, Collette Dickerson, and Connie Vesely.

On the take-off of our 3rd journey the new passengers who boarded our planes of education were Larry Hortan, Gordon Anthony, Robert Perez, Marie Spencer, and Richard Ramirez.

Taking-off on our 4th journey some more of our fellow students joined our course and in ever increasing numbers. They were John Blain, Roy Gentner, Raffie Berberian, and Ross Estavillo. Danny McWilliams also joined that flight.

In flight on our 5th journey four more fellow passengers joined our group. Kert Moore, Wanda Sparks, Stephen Talley, and Tommy White were included in this group.

Half way through our education course which was our 6th journey, we picked up Gwen Johnson, Candy Jones, Robert Sheppard, Mitch Crow, and Mike Hubbard.

In our 7th journey only one classmate joined our course in education. He was our own Andy Lewis.

Two-thirds through our journey we rested and went without gaining new passengers. Then we checked our courses for the remainder of our trip.

As we began our high school years in the 9th journey, we acquired Wanda Terrell, Donna Warden, and Tommy Allaire. That year we also moved to a larger plane to accommodate our increasing number.

Our second course in high school which was our 10th journey of education included only three who climbed aboard our plane. They were Pat Gutierrez, Mike Donnelly, and Tina Frazier.

Nearing the end of our journey our number was increased by the addition of Beverlee Fenton, Steve Zagst, Duane Cunningham, Joyce Wingate, Lynn Duncan, Bobby Reno, Russell Mahoney, Charles Snyder, Susan Poteet, Richard Lavergne, Charles Mike, Gary Mortenson.

On our last and final journey we added the finale of our students to our plane of education. Gary Bowen, Mary Alice Simpson, Bobby Escobedo, Zena Bolin, Daniel and Carroll Michael.

As our course in education comes to an end at least as the class of 1966, we will recall our 12 year flight across the sometimes blue and other times cloudy sky of knowledge. We will recall the fun we had as well as the values we obtained. As the 94 passengers of this plane land at their last port to accept the challenge of a new life, they are reluctant and sentimental in leaving the friends and classmates whom they knew.
